

REV. BRIDWELL ELECTED MODERATOR OF BAPTIST ASSOCIATION; PLAN FOR CENTENNIAL MEETING

This afternoon closed one of the most satisfactory gatherings in the history of the Ohio Baptist Association. For the celebration of its hundredth anniversary, which occurs next year, the Ohio Baptist Association will meet at Myrtle Baptist church, Arden, O., on the second and third mornings of the association session.

Rev. M. H. Bridwell, pastor of the Baptist church at New Boston, was elected Moderator for the coming year. The other officers elected this morning included: Vice Moderator, Rev. E. L. Averitt; Clerk, J. M. Howell, of Ironton; Treasurer, W. L. Waller, of Dearborn; O. Trustees were elected: W. L. Waller and N. D. Crowe, of the Mt. Pleasant church; W. P. Falls, elected for the short term to succeed J. C. Whitely, deceased. Mr. Falls is from Ironton.

At noon today Rev. E. L. Averitt delivered a sermon, striking in its virility, dealing with the doctrines of the Baptist church.

A strong sermon which left its indelible young imprints, Dr. Gordon H. point on the hearts of the audience. The challenge and stirred many people deeply was of the Age to the Church and the earnest appeal delivered by an ar-

Challenge of the Church to the Age, was the title under which he worked out the problems the church faces in these days when "all is in the melting pot."

"The most insistent challenge of the Age comes to the preacher. He is the shepherd, and when things are not what they ought to be in the church, somehow, somehow, these preachers are to blame. He is the 'key-man' in the situation," stressed the speaker.

"It is a source of lamentation that red blooded men find other channels in doing a man's work for God and do not go into the ministry. There is a shortage in the ministry of 28,000 ministers in the United States. The men who would enter the ministry to up professions as they say they are not in the church. They want more intellectual freedom, more cooperation, and decided by doing down of the pathless or church domination.

"I see the church of the future ministering to the needs of men, the physical and social as well as the spiritual needs," said Rev. Hurlburt. He closing Rev. Hurlburt said, "What is the church but men and women, and what is the key-stone on which they must build their success but unselfishness."

The following delegates represented the churches of this district at the Association:

WORTH SEEING AT THE FAIR

Every farmer should look up this machine. It cut 70 acres of wheat in 31 hours this year on the Bannan Farm.
It will double disk and harrow 28 acres in one day.
Your land is dry and hard now. Horses can't plow because the men can't hold the plow in the ground. This tractor goes along with ease with a gang plow cutting 28 inches wide and 8 inches deep.
This tractor will finish up a land better because it turns in a smaller space. Ridges and ditches don't interfere.
Early plowing grows from 10 to 12 more bushels of wheat than late plowing.
Ask the state agriculture men. This alone will soon pay for a machine that will do the work. Ask the people that saw the one hundred more test at Columbus, O. who finished first.

The Markets

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Price changes were again confusing at the opening of today's stock market, indicating the further divergent views of the trading element. Losses exceeded gains but these with one exception were limited to fractions. Advances of 1 to 2 points were made by Cleveland Steel, American Locomotive, Baldwin Locomotive, Sinclair Oil, Pan American Petroleum, American International and American Telephone. The market became more irregular before the end of the first half hour on selling of U. S. Steel. There seemed to be only a light inquiry for some recent favorites and the closing was weak.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Sharp breaks in the value of hogs together with increased rural offerings of corn to arrive had a decided bearish effect today on the corn market. Opening prices, which ranged from 1 1/2 to 2 1/2, and December 1 1/2 to 1 1/2, were followed by material further weakness all around, with September off in some cases more than 6 cents compared with yesterday's finish.
The market closed weak 1 1/2 to 3 1/2, lower, with Sept 1 1/2 to 1 1/2, and December 1 1/2 to 1 1/2.
Oats went lower with corn. After opening, they fell to 1 1/2, including September at 1 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents, the market closed to recede.
Provisions were depressed chiefly by the weakness of the hog market.
Free selling later found support, especially on liberal receipts of hogs tomorrow were predicted and 15,000 were carried over unsold.

Relieved for this Delaware, Ohio Lady
Mrs. W. C. Cox, of So. Henry St., Delaware, Ohio, says in her own home paper, the Delaware Gazette, "Serious trouble relieved, I had inward growth of 5 years removed from me. The suffering was almost unbearable. I thought I was going to die. I could scarcely walk. I could not eat and I was so nervous, and my heart would feel like it would jump out. The clothing I wore was so tight, I could not get it on. My heart, lungs and eyes got better and have been getting better ever since I removed using Serio-Quadruple six weeks ago. If you can use this treatment to help anyone, I will be glad. I will gladly answer any question if they care to write."
Serio-Quadruple comes in small bottles containing one dose for most cases. It does not stain or irritate the skin. Does not interfere with your work. Requires no medical skill.
Get further information at Stabler's Drug Store, drug stores everywhere, or write Serio-Quadruple, Cincinnati, O.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Miss Wise—I came here less than a week ago after leaving a row with my father. My home is where he and my brother are in business. I am nineteen, and now because I do not want to go further in school, he insists that I learn the business.

I hate manufacturing. I want to go to an aviation school, but he will not listen to it or anything else I suggest.

So I helped myself to funds and left. If he misses the money he knows who took it. I suppose he could make me go back, only he will not see this letter, so he will not know where to locate me.

Can he actually force me to learn the business at the factory? I do not see how he can make me take an interest in it when I detest every bit of it.

The only other thing he will consent to is college, but that means to take a course in law, another thing I detest. The truth of it is, he wants to run me just as he runs my brother. I want something to say myself. Isn't that perfectly all right?

I intend to go back before I go broke, but I like it here so long as my money holds out. They won't worry much. My mother took her lay fever up to the pines in Michigan and my dear aunt arrived on top, with her insomnia and liver pills, to look after things in general, but me in particular.

I happen to know she loves me about as much as an attack of indigestion. So I am simply saving her a lot of unnecessary worry. Besides, I have gone away before, only I am going to stay longer this time.

If I could choose a course in engineering I would not mind college so much. But it looks as if I have no right to say anything. There seems to be two chances for me, either to be a perfectly rotten lawyer or a store to the factory. I would rather be a chauffeur than either.

Don't you think as I do that I ought to have some choice? Or do you agree with my father that at least until I am twenty-one, I should be under his thumb. I will be glad to hear your ideas.

You have forgotten your responsibility to yourself. We are all given an opportunity to see what we can do with our own characters. No one lights his battle without obstacles.

Your obstacle is your father's strong will. I do think he has made a mistake in driving you along lines which do not interest you in the least.

Has it entered your mind that you are a common thief? To be a thief is a very serious matter, and unless you change your methods in life you will spoil it completely and be branded as a criminal.

If you desire to do for yourself, you must first learn to be a thief.

Finds Pictures Of Dead Baby

Mr. William Elwert of Third street, found several kodak films of their son, Edwin, who died at the age of 11 months. Mr. Elwert says that he has neglected to have a picture taken of Baby Edwin, but the other day, some neighbor girls gave him some films which they had made with their kodak before baby took sick. Mr. Elwert says that he values these pictures very highly and is having them finished at Fowler's. He has also purchased a kodak from Fowler's for his own use. adv 11

why did you take that money? That makes you seem too weak to take care of yourself.

Do not go home until you have worked but the wrong you have done. Get a position and work to the utmost with the idea of paying back to your father every cent you stole. When he sees that you can take care of yourself when you are given freedom, he will be willing that you should stay where you are, working out your life in a better way than he could guide you.

I have confidence that you will see your mistake and will want to prove to all that you are a man of character and honor.

Dear Dolly Wise—We are two girls fourteen years of age and are in love with two boys, sixteen and seventeen. They wanted us to go car riding and we refused. Now they are angry. What shall we do?

MOLLY AND MOLLY.

You are altogether too young to go riding with boys. Let them be angry if they want to.

A woman with several young children would like to secure a middle aged woman who would care for the children especially in the evening when the parents are not at home.

Miss Dolly Wise—Is there some place where I can get a couple of dresses, partly wool dyed black? I saw in a paper the other day, where there was a movement to pay clerks, and other women workers, $16.50 per week, for people who had had 7 months experience, and $12.50 for new beginners. Do you think Oldie will adopt that scale? Will that mean all women workers?

VIRGINIA.

At any day cleaning and dye works. See the directory. Let's hope the movement goes through for its much needed notice. It would mean everyone according to the provisions dictated.

Blood Poisoning Results From Slight Scratch

Special Dispatch to The Enquirer.

Wheeling, W. Va., June 15.—Dr. College, died at a local hospital today, death due to blood poisoning, which was caused by a slight scratch which he received on his hand 10 days ago.

The above is an actual quotation from the Cincinnati Enquirer, with names omitted.

Give every injury, no matter how slight, immediate attention. Safety requires that you keep a bottle of Houton's E-Ach always at hand for emergency use. Its highly concentrated antiseptic qualities make only a slight application necessary to thoroughly disinfect any scratch or cut. No danger of infection when Houton's (The Original Jones) Liniment is used and yet its action is so mild that it may be freely applied to severe wounds, burns and scalds. Its soothing and healing power is almost magical. Don't risk being without it. Get a bottle from your druggist today. A 4-oz. bottle 15c. Large household size, enough to last a year, 50c. No Sugar Hoarding Here

The Times has received several letters in reference to the sugar situation here, the local merchants being discredited against, and also the charge being made that wholesale grocers are storing huge quantities of sugar in warehouses.

The Times has made careful inquiry and finds no foundation for the charges of hoarding by wholesalers. Of course each wholesale grocery house, having a wide variety of customers, depending upon them for supplies, must necessarily carry some sugar, as well as other goods, in warehouse, so that no orders come in they can be filled. Right allotments of sugar are necessary in order to make it go around. There is no unnecessary large amount of sugar in storage here. Local wholesalers have had orders in for months for large amounts of sugar but shipments have been delayed. As that as a rule sugar reaches town it is allotted to grocers.

There has been a sugar shortage, nation wide. It has happened that some grocers have had supplies on hand sufficient to carry them through the present emergency. Washington, D. C. is said to be well supplied, and some customers of firms in that city have been able to get a limited supply of sugar. Last April and May Portsmouth wholesalers had a large supply on hand while Linton, Ashland and Huntington were out.

It is stated that orders were now being shipped and it is hoped that sugar will soon be coming in, in sufficient quantities to take care of all reasonable demands.

One rumor said that a wholesale grocery house had 14 cars of sugar stored in Stockham's warehouse. This is flatly denied. Another rumor was that the same wholesale house had stored sugar on its fourth floor doing its banking at night. "Absolutely false" was the characterization of this rumor.

C. & O. MEN AT LEXINGTON RETURN TO WORK

LEXINGTON, Ky., August 14.—The C. & O. shops state that all of the striking shopmen, except seven boiler-makers, who walked out a week ago in accord with the general strike of the Federated Shopmen, returned to work at 7 o'clock this morning.

It is not known when the boiler-makers will be given orders to take up their tools again. They are affiliated with the Union, West Virginia union, and feel that they cannot resume work until some official action is taken by that organization.

Simultaneously with the return of the striking shopmen to their duties, fires were lighted under the boilers of freight engines, as preparation for starting out freight trains today. It was stated at the company's round house that before the day is over it was expected that all freight trains on this division would be running.

"THE HIGHEST TRUMP"

Popular Earle Williams Has An Effective Role of Action in "The Highest Trump." At Strand Tonight, Also "Perils of Thunder Mountain"

The amazing situation of an American Air leading a squadron of German bombing planes in a raid over Paris is seen in "The Highest Trump," a Vitaphone release, featuring Earle Williams, which will be presented at the Strand tonight. Mr. Williams has a most effective role in this romance of a youth who plays the part of a German Secret Service agent to expiate the wrongs his dead brother unwittingly laid down his country as a Hun sympathizer before the United States entered the war. The mystery of his apparent duplicity is sustained to the very end, where the girl he loves, convinced he is a traitor, determines to kill him on their wedding night. His arrest prevents this, and he is revealed as No. 25 of the United States Secret Service, the man who enabled the Allies to launch their offensive which ended the war. In the support of Mr. Williams is beautiful Grace Raymond, whose smart gown will captivate you. The second episode of the new snow serial, "The Perils of Thunder Mountain," will be shown also.

At The Arcadia Tonight

Tonight the sixteenth chapter of the "Thunder Mountain" serial is being shown. "The Highest Trump" is the title of this chapter. As the serial grows closer to the end it becomes more and more thrilling.

The Marie Walburg is seen in many exciting scenes. This chapter has a most thrilling climax. See it sure. As the film is real comedy and a reel of Heart News does the show.

Pandy Western Feature at Lincoln Tonight

Patrons of the Lincoln theatre will welcome Dustin Farnum in his United Superstition, "The Light of Western Stars," which will be shown here Thursday. This famous stage and screen star will be seen as the wild but lovable cowboy of the South Western border. With Dustin Farnum's rich, convincing talent and the most thrillingly fascinating of Zane Grey's masterly stories the picture brims with exciting interest. The plot deals with the adventures which arise out of the Stewart's wild wager that he would marry the first woman who would ride the little Western town. When he married her his name further than he loved and the girl proved to be the daughter of the rancher whose foreman Stewart's things happen quick and the audience swings between hope and fear right to the final picture. In his singing of the production Charles Swickard has caught the author's wonderful inspiration. The photography is magnificently beautiful in subject and in execution. Winifred Kingston is a fascinating leading woman and the support is excellent throughout.

"The last one hundred thousand" is the name given to the remnants of the American army in France. Think of it. Fighting ceased on November 11th, today two million soldiers are returned home. Could any country, other than America, do such work in so short a time?

The latest thing out is the government is going to make postmasters agents for the sale of 30,000 automobiles that have never been used. As the single make of the car is specified it may turn out to be only a publicity scheme.

Lots of people said the picture looked like some press. So it does, but they will, at that, have a poor idea of what a real press is until they come down and look at one—about 4 o'clock in the afternoon—as they are most welcome to do.

Chicago travels a swift gait, no doubt about it. Eleven automobiles were stolen there in twenty-four hours.

Lenine is going to quit, so somebody says, but it is regrettable Lenine doesn't seem to know anything about it himself.

Our soldier boys couldn't teach the males of England to play baseball, but they taught the girls how to dance and that's more to a mutual enjoyment.

Quite a number of houses are being built about the city. Also a number of sales are being made, and every building association has an unusual run of applications for loans.

The fate of the nations may have been trembling in the balance Tuesday, but blessedly few voters gave thought to the primaries at that.

The wheat yield is not turning out so well as expected, which isn't an unusual occurrence.

Again we have an old acquaintance with us—Petrograd is about to fall.

Considering what she didn't do during the war and what happened to her then Rumina is getting mighty pert.

THE WISHING PLANE

BY WILLIS WINNER

Jack always had thought that Main street hill, back in Middle Bellevue town, was a wonderful place for coasting in winter time, but when Captain Brave told him that some of the coasting places near where they were staying in Switzerland were a couple of miles long the little fellow decided that the hill at home was a short one. For it ran only two city blocks.

The Captain called it a toboggan, that's what we'll call it from now on.

Instead of being a long platform on two runners several inches high it was a wide board that rested flat on the snow. The front end was curved back so that it would slide over the rough places. Little ridges on the bottom helped make it run straight. Captain Brave said. Along the sides on top of the board were two rails to which the folks on the toboggan held on going down hill.

"During the winter months the long mountain roads were covered with a glassy coating of ice and snow," said Captain Brave. "Then folks with their toboggans walk up the road for miles until they are as high as they can go with their toboggans. They climb onto the toboggans and start the trip down. Some of the way they coast slowly along stretches of road almost level. Then the road goes through a patch of woods where the air is much colder, because the sun hasn't shown through the great trees. Then there will be another steep hill which will find them out in the open again. The whole trip down to the bottom of the mountain road will take them only a few minutes. It probably took them a couple of hours to reach the top of the road."

"Toboggan races are held on the steep and most difficult coasting places. Only the most expert tobogganers make these races because other folks would be thrown from their toboggans and perhaps hurt if they attempted to race."

"Water is poured on these hills the night before the races are to be held. This water freezes and makes the hill as smooth as glass. The races are down the road at a really truly terrific minute gait. The man or woman who makes the trip in the shortest time wins the race.

"One of the coasting places is known all over the world. This is called the Cresta run. It is at St. Moritz. Many sharp turns in it make it a dangerous course for any but the greatest tobogganers. Racers have gone from the top to the bottom of the hill in less than a minute. Part of the time they were almost flying—going over sixty miles an hour. That's as fast as the fastest tobogganers can pull a train."

There isn't any more to write today, so I guess you'll have to wait until tomorrow to hear about the skating. Copyright, 1919.

New - York - Day - By - Day

BY
O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—It is a while since I have gone out from Publisher Headquarters that "The Stool Pigeon" is no longer to be the connecting link between the police and the underworld. The Stool Pigeon has been outwitted and a new school of writing secrets from the crook and from crookdom has been found.

The Stool Pigeon is the professional snitch—generally a weakling who is allowed to engage in petty pilfering so that he can tip off the police to the bigger criminal expeditions that he hears planned in the fried fish eating houses and cheap saloons he frequents.

There was a time when the Stool Pigeon played an important part in the underworld. He was the link between the underworld and the police. He was the one who told the police where the crooks were hiding. He was the one who told the crooks where the police were looking for them.

Like Henry Ford, the soul soars above the headlines. At lunch the other day a group of artists and four writers were discussing the Ford case. Most of us knew a little about Benedict Arnold, but an amazing high-brow in the crowd began to pin me to the mat on a discussion of the Lonsdale and Purdum and the Dred Scott decision. I confess I'm a little shaky on these topics. But it wouldn't have been so bad if the fellow hadn't asked me point blank what I thought of Benedict Arnold's claims to the peace conference.

Fingers from the West in New York are having a more moral time than they ever had before. They come in without even a half pine in their grip, fill up at the orange juice stands and go over to Carnegie Hall to hear a lecture on the Holy Land with perfectly admirable slides. At noon they can go down to City Hall and see the Mayor going out for lunch. Then they go down to the market and leave a big order for the quicker line of goods and go home pure and happy.

There is a firm conviction in Times Square that the high class morning picture theatre has resulted in a demand for a higher type of song. The 15th and 16th floor picture theatres, for instance, have a complete symphony orchestra, playing nothing but

Too Much Bluing

On her first trip to Nantasket, little Miss Cornstossel, as she looked over the side of the steamer, "Mamma, they put too much bluing in this water." Which reminds the Boston Transcript of another old who exclaimed on seeing the wake of a steamer, "Oh, look, mother, the boat is leaving all its soap."

Some Seniors
"What part of the scenery around here seems to attract the most attention?"

"Well," said Farmer Cornstossel, "I've studied the boarders pretty close. I should say it's the ham and eggs on the breakfast table."

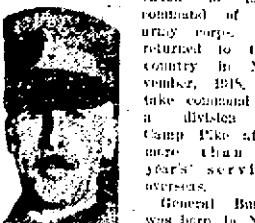

The Latest

Mr. and Mrs. Oldred had so many children they didn't know what to do, so they took the whole pack off to picnic on the river, and let them run riot. Suddenly a small boy ran up to Mr. Oldred and cried out: "Papa, papa! Archibald has fallen into the water!" "Archibald, Archibald!" repeated the father. "Then he turned to his wife. "Albee," he implored, anxiously, "have we an Archibald?"

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAY'S NEWS

MAJOR GENERAL OMAR BUNDY

Major General Omar Bundy was the first commander of the second division, United States army, leading it from the time it first sailed to the front in March, 1918, through the Chateau-Thierry offensive, when he left the division to take command of the army corps. He returned to this country in November, 1918, to take command of a division at Camp Pike after more than a year's service overseas.

MAJOR GENERAL OMAR BUNDY

General Bundy was born in New Castle, Ind., in 1861. He was graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1882 and was assigned to the Twelfth Infantry. His first campaign was against the Sioux Indians in South Dakota in 1901. He remained on frontier duty until the outbreak of the Spanish-American war in 1898. As captain, he took an active part in the battle of El Caney and in the siege of San Juan.

Since the Spanish-American war General Bundy has served in the Philippines and on the Mexican border, advancing by promotion until at the outbreak of the war with Germany he was serving as President's adjutant-general, with the rank of colonel. His frontier experience and service in the Philippines won for him the rank of brigadier-general when the formation of the A. E. F. took place. On being assigned to command the Second Division he took it to the front in the Tonnay and Toulon sectors of the St. Mihiel salient.

But in modern times, we're improved on that custom.

'Tis so in my judgment at least.

Roscoe Blaine Seriously Injured In A Collision

In the collision of a seven passenger automobile driven by Constable H. H. Wilcox and a Harley-Davidson motorcycle, operated by Roscoe Blaine, at Third and Washington streets, this afternoon, the latter was seriously injured internally.

Blaine was carried to the home of Mrs. Emma Moore, 217 Washington street, where Dr. P. J. Kline was called to attend him. It is not yet known how badly he is hurt, but the first examination showed serious internal injuries, and numerous bruises about the head, shoulders and right leg. It is feared that several of Blaine's ribs are broken, or crushed out of place. His injuries are causing him to fairly writhe in pain.

Mr. Wilcox had his right forearm strained by the force of the sudden collision, and was also bruised about the right side. It was thought at first that two of his ribs were broken, but a thorough examination proved otherwise.

The automobile was coming north on Washington, while the motorcycle was going west on Third street. The car is one of the worst in the city, full of holes and rust. The motorcycle crashed full into the side of the Studebaker, denting the side of the big car, and smashing the tool box.

The Harley-Davidson is a total wreck. One-half of the headlight is gone, a pedal is torn off, and the front wheel is mangled.

She secured an injunction tying up his funds and restraining him from disposing of his property, including the soft drink business and an automobile. A similar action was filed by Mrs. Treat several months ago, but it was later withdrawn when the couple became reconciled.

CRISIS IN RUMANIAN SITUATION

ATTACK MADE ON U. S. AND ENGLAND BY A RUMANIAN STATEMENT

AMSTERDAM, August 14.—Rumanian troops are about to leave Budapest in consequence of the note sent to Rumania by the peace conference, according to a wireless dispatch received here from Vienna, quoting newspapers of that city.

VIENNA, Tuesday, Aug. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—A statement attacking England and America, denouncing that Hungary be united with Rumania under the sovereignty of King Ferdinand and threatening to strip Hungary if the Rumanian army is forced to withdraw from that country, has been presented to Archduke Joseph, head of the Hungarian government, by the authorized Rumanian representative at Budapest, according to dispatches received here.

The text of the statement, according to report, says: "There are 250,000 workmen in Hungary, who are only waiting for the Rumanian to leave Hungary to immediately take the situation into their own hands, which means the return of Bolshevism. The Hungarian government cannot depend upon the entire powers for assistance. We do not trust the entente, which wants only to humiliate us. We are willing to withdraw our troops, if necessary, starting tomorrow morning, but we will carry off everything and strip the country."

"The only ground the entente has against us is that we refuse to have English and American capital dominate Rumania. Hungary must follow Rumania's policy in not accepting English and American capital. What ever would remain after the Rumanian retreat would be taken by the entente any way. The entente idea is to have Rumania and Hungary fight and destroy each other, the entente thereby getting all. There is only one policy for Hungary to pursue, that is a union between Hungary and Rumania, ruled by the Rumanian king. We do not care what the entente or Premier Clemenceau, of France, wants to do or is doing. We will follow our own policy."

VIENNA, Wednesday, August 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—Allied military representatives conferred at Budapest today with our representatives of the Rumanian and Hungarian governments, but the result was not announced. It is believed, however, that a crisis is imminent and that the Rumanians must give a definite reply to the peace conference note of August 7, without material delay. Membership the Rumanians, according to reports from Budapest, are stripping the country and seizing the railway and transportation lines. Supplies of all kinds are in readiness to be moved out of the country. The outlying districts of Hungary are still ignorant of recent developments in the capital owing to the censorship and the shipment of food to Budapest has stopped.

OPPOSED TO JOSEPH. PARIS, Wednesday, Aug. 13.—Rumania in no wise favors the installation of Archduke Joseph in power in Hungary, according to a declaration made to the Temps by Victor Antonesco, Rumanian minister here.

RUMANIA REPLIES. PARIS, Aug. 14.—The Rumanian delegation sent to the peace conference today the text of the answer of the Rumanian government to the notes sent by the conference. The supreme council will meet this afternoon to discuss the Rumanian policy.

PARIS, Wednesday, Aug. 13.—(By the Associated Press.) The supreme council considered the Hungarian question this afternoon. Dispatches from the inter-allied commission containing inquiries as to that body's power, were considered and the council sent additional instructions to Budapest. It is understood the mission was advised that orders are not to be given to the commanders of the Rumanian army, but that members of the mission should hold themselves in readiness to confer with Rumanian officials preparatory to an adjustment of the strained situation.

TRUCE IN THE ACTORS STRIKE

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—A truce having been declared in the actors' strike, pending decision of injunction suits brought by the management of two playhouses to prevent their players from going out, each side claimed victory today while awaiting a court decision.

Hearings started on the injunction suits are under way before a master in chancery. Cohen's grand opera house and the Cort theatre were "dark" again last night these houses having been closed by the strikes and not coming under the truce agreement.

OPENING STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Price changes were again confusing at the opening of today's stock market, indicating the further divergent views of the trading element. Advances of 1 to 2 points were made by Crucible Steel, American Locomotive, Baldwin Locomotive, Sinclair Oil, Pan American Petroleum, American International and American Telephone. The market became more irregular before the end of the first half hour on selling of U. S. Steel.

Retreat Continues

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The retreat in the Ural mountains of the forces of Admiral Kolchak continues, according to news received here today. South of Ural, at the southern end of the Ural, it is added the Bolsheviks have driven the Cossacks back 65 miles and are endeavoring to separate them from the main body of the Kolchak forces.

They are fighting on both sides of the trans-Siberian railway. East of Cheludinsk, a junction point on the railway, and Shadrinsk, the Bolsheviks are said to have reached the line of the Minus and Isset rivers, and captured Timen, just east of the Russian-Siberian border. The articles add that there is no sign that the Bolshevik advance is likely to be checked.

The Associated Press is informed, however, that the general position of Admiral Kolchak and his government is not believed to have been materially worse by the Bolshevik advance and barring the unexpected collapse of Admiral Kolchak, the millions in Siberia in time to aid in his recovery.

Nevertheless, it is admitted here that the reverses suffered by Admiral Kolchak are a serious blow to the policy of the entente in Russia. Better news has been received from South Russia, where General Petlura, the Ukrainian anti-Bolshevik leader, is progressing rapidly toward Kiev, with a view to cutting the railways southward toward Odessa, which probably will have to be evacuated by the Soviet forces. The Russian volunteer troops under General Denikin, are closing in on Odessa, and it is believed that the whole Black Sea coast soon will be out of Bolshevik hands.

Cornwell Answers Trainmen

CHARLESTON, W. Va., August 14.—Governor John J. Cornwell answered last night a communication from the Federation of Railway Employees of the Chesapeake and Ohio system, criticizing his opposition to the Plumb plan of government ownership of railroads. The governor characterized the plan as "nothing more than a farce."

Governor Cornwell averred that should the public lay the roads and give them to the railroad men to manage, all other workers of public utilities, would demand the same thing.

EXPULSION THREATENED STRIKERS WHO REFUSE TO RETURN TO WORK

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Expulsion of all striking railway shompen from the international organization was threatened in a telegram from H. M. Jewell, president of the organization, which is to be presented today by officials of the Chicago district council, at a meeting of striking shompen called to vote on the question of returning to work. The telegram reads: "Make orders positive to all points now is the time to act. We cannot much longer delay, and if you refuse to comply, will be compelled to advise Illinois and Wilson, if necessary, that you do not belong to the organization. If negotiations are resumed strikers will be deprived of benefits."

With Chicago as the stronghold of the strike movement, which has been disapproved by the international officers, railroad officials, regional directors and strikers declared that today's meeting will mark the success or failure of the walkout.

STRIKERS CLASH WITH OFFICERS

PEORIA, Ill., August 14.—Illinois reserve military units were ready today to march to the Keystone Steel and Wire plant in South Bartonville, and preserve order in the steel mills, where fighting yesterday between striking employees and deputy sheriffs resulted in the injury of five persons.

A number of shots were fired during the night, but early today there was no sign of further rioting. Several explosions, believed to be dynamite blasts, shook the works of the plant early today, but the extent of the damage was not known. That the blasts were inside of the warred works of the Keystone mills was admitted by officials of the company. The trouble dates back two months, when the employees struck for higher wages and a closed shop. The company granted an increase in pay but declined to recognize the union. The plant has been closed for several weeks.

C. & O. MEN AT LEXINGTON RETURN TO WORK

LEXINGTON, KY., August 14.—The C. & O. shops state that all of the striking shompen, except seven boiler makers, who walked out a week ago in accord with the general strike of the Federated Shompen, returned to work at 7 o'clock this morning. It is not known when the boiler makers will be given orders to take up their tools again. They are affiliated with the Huntington, West Virginia union, and feel that they cannot resume work until some official action is taken by that organization. Simultaneously with the return of the striking shompen to their duties, fires were lighted under the boilers of freight engines, as preparation for starting out freight trains today. It was stated at the company's round house that before the day is over it was expected that all freight trains on this division would be running.

August 20—Steel Plant vs. Solvay.

Josephus Daniels Barber, picking one of the best games of his honorable career, kept the Excelsiors in the race for high honors in the Industrial League last night, when he held the Reds to a 4 to 0 victory. Barber fanned ten railroaders and fanned 10 men and was out for the Shoemakers 4 to 2 in what was one of the most interesting and most desperate struggles of the year. The Railroaders were always threatening, but Manager Barber always asserted his well-known fact into the breach and blocked the N. & W. in time to prevent a wreck. That he was supreme in every way was plainly demonstrated in the sixth inning when with runners on third and second, and none out he checked the railroaders to nothing, fanning the next two batters and getting the last man on a little better to second.

Wickoff did the twirling for the Railroaders, and he twirled a very capable game, holding the Shoemakers to six hits. However, "Slim" Allen would sandwich a base on balls once in a while and this proved his undoing. The support given the two twirlers was pretty fast and clean and the fans enjoyed every inch of the way. There were many anxious moments all along the way, with the Railroaders always threatening to tear away the lead of the Excelsiors. At these points Manager Barber would assert himself, and had it not been for an error on the part of his defenders, the N. & W. would have scored but one run, which they earned in the first round, due to the clubbing ability of Messrs. Wells and Weinberg.

That Barber was right last evening is shown by the fact that he fanned no less than ten men, which is the record for a seven inning contest. Baumman has thirteen strikes out to his credit, but the game went eleven innings and the Reds were the victims. Manager Barber knew that in order for his team to finish first they would have to win last night, and he pitched as though his life depended upon the outcome. Incidentally, he was there as a pinch hitter in the first round when he scared Eddie Brennan with the first run of the game and kept his team in the light from the start. Brennan, who always makes a pitcher put 'em over, had two called strikes and then Wickoff hit him in the rear of his anatomy. He sailed second without much delay and stood there while House and Cornette popped to Vaughters at first. However, Manager Barber played a fine single to middle and Brennan came over standing up. Wickoff delivered up from this until the sixth, when the Excelsiors won the game. House, who had been fanned, popped to Vaughters at first, but Cornette doubled to left, and the Excelsiors moved up on House's error to first. House was given free transportation to first. Both runners moved up on House's error to first. Kahmar, the fielder, chose this opportunity to climb the game by striding to left, Cornette and Barber coming in. He took second on the throw home and scored when Applegate tossed Allen's bat to first.

The Railroaders made their move in the first. Applegate and Wells drove after Applegate, and Wells drove a mighty swing to left, and for two sacks. Without waiting very long Weinberg singled to middle, Wells coming in. Vaughters fanned.

In the fifth, the Railroaders established another run and then scored. DeLoe fanned for a starter, but Wells singled to middle. Hubert sacrificed. Wickoff hit to House, who fumbled the ball for an instant and three white Sox came in. Applegate sent

Ruether And Sallee Turned The Trick In Fine Style

Portsmouth fans were dippy last night when it was learned that the Reds had beaten the Giants twice in one day, winning the second game 2 to 1.

This was a real pitcher's battle between Douglas and Sallee, the latter having the better of the argument.

Magee won the game for the Reds in the fourth inning when his single drove home the only two runs scored by the Moran men, which was just enough to win. Sallee had the Giants eating out of his Billy white hand all the way.

RISE OF AN EMIGRANT BOY

ANDY Carnegie gave away almost four hundred million dollars. Some years ago, when he began strewing the country with libraries, it was commonly reputed that he was going to give his entire wealth away to projects of a philanthropic character, as he seemingly did not run strongly towards charity. It was his purpose to dispose of his possessions, it was the second great failure of his life, as though he lived to be eighty-four, when he died the other day his holdings were estimated to be not altogether far from five hundred million dollars, which would make him the second richest man in the world.

The son of a Scotch emigrant, Carnegie began to labor for his support at eleven years of age, working in a cotton factory for twenty cents a day. He was industrious and strove to get ahead by knowing things. At fourteen he got a job as stationary engineer, because in odd intervals he had learned to run an engine and he advanced to the princely wage of $2.50 a week. Going from engineer to telegraph messenger boy and picking up in the same way telegraphy he became an operator on the Pennsylvania railway. One day there was a bad wreck that tied the road. President Thomas Scott wasn't about so the operator sent orders out to clear up and how to go about it, signing Scott's name. When Scott learned of this he made the bold and capable lad his private secretary. Not only that he told Andy to buy a certain stock and further lent him the money to buy. Right there was where the emigrant boy got more than a toe hold. He made $10,000 on the deal and from that on began to make money by the tens, the hundreds of thousands, the millions. He took Scott along with him and made him incredibly rich. Scott, however, was not as loyal to him. When he had become a millionaire, Carnegie concluded he would take a wife. Finding the right girl he introduced her to Scott, who promptly married her. That was the first grievous disappointment in an extraordinarily successful career and so deeply did it sink that it was twenty years later before Carnegie finally got married.

Success came to him because he was diligent and gave his best thought to his service, though always looking for something bigger and lay by a bit from his earnings to sustain him while taking the chance. This doctrine was that poverty is a blessing and it everybody was comfortably situated the race would deteriorate and die, because it must look to poverty to furnish the constant recruiting of the good and worthy, necessary to its strength. This may account for the fact that his beneficences were for the improvement of the race mentally, rather than for relieving from misfortune, sickness and distress.

No man was more industrious, only one made more money, yet he exalted neither industry, nor money. It was a mistake, in his view, to think the man who worked all the time would win. Best diversion and amusement were necessary to success. Millionsaires he said, seldom laughed. The most miserable of all spectacles as old age approaches, are the men who have made money their god. The epitaph, which every rich man should wish himself justly entitled to is that found upon the monument of William Pitt:

"He lived unostentatiously
And he died poor."

"The last one hundred thousand" is the name given to the remnants of the American army in France. Think of it. Fighting ceased on November 11th, today two million soldiers are returned home. Could any country, other than America, do such work in so short a time?

The latest thing out is the government is going to make postmasters agents for the sale of 30,000 automobiles that have never been used. As the single make of the car is specified it may turn out to be only a publicity scheme.

Lots of people said the picture looked like some press. So it does, but they will, at that, have a poor idea of what a real press is until they come down and look at one—about 4 o'clock in the afternoon—as they are most welcome to do.

Chicago travels a swift gait, no doubt about it. Eleven automobiles were stolen there in twenty-four hours.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH IN VLADIVOSTOK

(From The Vladivostok Echo)

The English page of the Echo will not appear tomorrow, as the operator of our English linotype machine is an American and we gave him a holiday in order that he may celebrate the Fourth of July. The question whether the page will reappear on Sunday depends on the thoroughness with which he celebrates. Our translator, a Scotsman, is overjoyed with the idea that tomorrow will be a holiday, and all but perished with a bottle of "Scotch" to the Yank with the idea of making sure that he would celebrate sufficiently to render him unfit for service on Saturday, thus insuring another holiday. However, as we have remarked, he is a Scotsman—well, we guess the Yank will have to celebrate on vodka.—Editor.

THE WISHING PLANE

BY WILLIS WINTER

Jack always had thought that Main street hill, back in Mike Bellevue town, was a wonderful place for coasting in winter time, but when Captain Bravo told him that some of the coasting places near where they were staying in Switzerland were a couple of miles long the little fellow decided that the hill at home was a short one. For it ran only two city blocks.

Jack never had seen the kind of sleds they used in Switzerland. Captain Bravo showed him one standing in the corner of Windy Art's living room.

"The Captain called it a 'toboggan.' That's what we'll call it from now on. Instead of being a long platform on two runners several inches high it was a wide board that rested flat on the snow. The front end was curled back so that it would slide over the rough places. Little ridges on the bottom helped make it run straight, Captain Bravo said. Along the sides on top of the board were two rails to which the folks on the toboggan held going down hill.

"During the winter months the long mountain roads were covered with a glass coating of ice and snow," said Captain Bravo. "Then folks with their toboggans walk up the road for miles until they are as high as they can go with their toboggans. They climb onto the toboggans and start the trip down. Some of the way they coast slowly along stretches of road almost level. Then the road goes through a pack of woods where the air is much colder, because the sun hasn't shown through the great trees. Then there will be another steep hill which will land them out in the open again. The whole trip down to the bottom of the mountain road will take them only a few minutes. It probably took them a couple of hours to reach the top of the road."

"Toboggan races are held on the steep and most difficult coasting places. Only the most expert tobogganers enter these races because other folks would be thrown from their toboggans and perhaps hurt if they attempted to race."

"Water is poured on these hills the night before the races are to be held. This water freezes and makes the hill as smooth as glass. The racers fly down the road at a really truly terrific mile a minute. The man or woman who makes the trip in the shortest time wins the race."

"One of the coasting places is known all over the world. This is called the Cross run. It is at St. Moritz. Many sharp turns in it make it a dangerous course for any but the greatest tobogganers. Racers have come from the top to the bottom of the hill in less than a minute. Part of the time they were almost flying, going over sixty miles an hour. That's so fast as to make the racers can pull a train."

There isn't any room for more to-day, so I guess you'll have to wait until tomorrow to hear about the sliding. Copyright, 1919.

New - York - Day - By - Day

BY

O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 14—It is while the police and the underworld peep in underground channels that the word has gone out from Police Headquarters that The Stool Pigeon is no longer to be the cunningest link between the police and the underworld.

The Stool Pigeon has been outwitted and a new school of wretched scoundrels has been found.

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAYS NEWS

MAJOR GENERAL OMAR BUNDY

Major General Omar Bundy was the first commander of the second division, United States army, leading it from the time it first swept to the front in March, 1918, through the Chateau-Thierry offensive, when he left the division to take command of an army corps. He returned to this country in November, 1918, to take command of a division at Camp Pike after more than a year's service overseas.

General Bundy was born in New Castle, Ind., in 1861. He was graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1883 and was assigned to the Twelfth Infantry.

His first campaign was against the Sioux Indians in South Dakota in 1890-91. He remained on frontier duty until the outbreak of the Spanish-American war in 1898. As captain, he took an active part in the battle of El Caney and in the siege of Santiago.

Since the Spanish-American war General Bundy has served in the Philippines and on the Mexican border, advancing by promotion until at the outbreak of the war with Germany he was serving as President's adjutant-general, with the rank of colonel. His frontier experience and service in the Philippines won for him the rank of brigadier-general when the formation of the A. E. F. took place. He being assigned to command the Second Division he took it to the front in the Trier and Toulon sectors of the St. Mihiel salient.

The Stool Pigeon is the professional snitch—generally a crackling who is allowed to engage in petty thieving so that he can tip off the police to the bigger criminal expeditions that he hears planned in the first fish cutting houses and cheap saloons he frequents.

There was a time when the Stool Pigeon played an important part in uncovering nests of vicious criminals in Manhattan—but the stout-hearted crook shunned such betrayals, and so the Stool Pigeon became a slippery-faced, simply robed and depraved drug addict type—who shuffled along the streets lugging the walks in self-effacement and fearing any moment the shut from a dark hallway.

At odd times milk wagon drivers in the slums have discovered bottles in the gutters or alleyways—eyes glazed and mouth agape. When the police came they knew it was the stab of the crook's hatred for the snitch. For that reason the Stool Pigeon became more and more wary of his avocation.

It was during the lively days when Lieut. Becker ruled the Tenderloin that the Stool Pigeon played an important part in police circles. But with the passing of the Gambler Boss and the subsequent exposure of the Stool Pigeon, fearing instant death, took flight to all corners of the globe. Many of them never came back.

There is a firm conviction in Times Square that the high class tavern pleasure theatres have resulted in a demand for a higher type of song. The Rialto and Rialto world palaces, for instance, have a complete symphony orchestra, playing nothing but carefully selected programs. On each night is a song number of a high order. The singers are paid in some cases as high as $1000 a week for singing four songs a day. The moving picture tanners and the singers are always on the lookout for new songs, as well as the old classics. The music publishers realize that if a song is sung at these places for a week it is made—it is a good song to begin with. The song, "When You Look in the Heart of a Rose" was first sung at the Rialto, I believe. Then it became the song hit of "The Better 'Ole," which now has seven companies out. It was a high-class song and the movie crowds liked it. They began to buy it and now it is nearing "Over There" in sales.

Like Henry Ford, say and soars above the headlines. At lunch the other day a group of artists and four writers were discussing the Ford case. Most of us knew a little about Benedict Arnold, but an annoying high-brow in the crowd began to pin me to the wall on a discussion of the Louisiana Purchase and the Dred Scott decision. I confess I'm a little sketchy on those topics. But it wouldn't have been so bad if the fellow hadn't asked me point blank what I thought of Benedict's claims at the peace conference.

Players from the West in New York are having a more moral time than they ever had before. They come in without even a half pint in their grip, fill up at the orange juice stands and go over to Carnegie Hall to hear a lecture on the Holy Land with perfectly adorable slides. At noon they can go down to City Hall and see the Mayor going out for lunch. Then they go down to the market and leave a big order for the quainter line of goods and go home pure and happy.

The Girls Of The Red Cross Canteen (Dedicated to the Red Cross Girls of the 2nd A. I. C., Tours, France.)

In the good days of old, so the poets have told us,

When 'round the Olympian board, for five o'clock tea all the Gods were assembled,

'Twas Hebe, the goddess, who poured.

But in modern times, we're improved on that custom,

'Tis so in my judgment at least, for now, when they serve us hot coffee and doughnuts,

The Graces preside at the feast.

Now, when we get up and find breakfast is "flat" (It served in the small hours of night),

At the Red Cross Canteen, steaming coffee awaits us

And biscuits—hot, flaky and light.

There's a look and a fire for a cold winter evening, And magazines more or less new, With a chance for a bit of a chat in between times

With some one who don't "parlez vous."

You're sure of a smile and a right hearty welcome

Wherever this emblem is seen. Here's a toast for you, gentlemen, up with your glasses—

The Girls of the Red Cross Canteen! —Edgar A. Johnston.

Too Much Bling

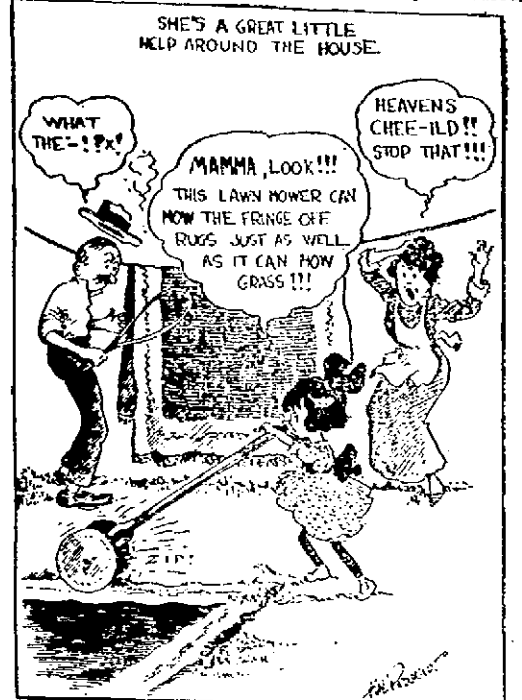

On her first trip to Nantasket, little Bess remarked as she looked over the side of the steamer, "Mamma, they put too much bling in this water." Which reminds the Boston Transcript of another old who exclaimed on seeing the wake of a steamer, "Oh, look, mother, the boat is losing all its soap."

Quite True

About the time a man is old enough to know better, he's so old that it does not matter whether he does better or not.
